

Coalbrookdale Watercourses

Client – Borough of Telford & Wrekin

Provision of an Interpretation Plan and then subsequent implementation of our proposals

Contract value £48,000

This project provided a way-marked and interpreted trail along one of Coalbrookdale’s hidden heritage resources, the streams that powered the early blast furnaces.

- Trail leaflet
- Cast iron trail markers with orientation maps and interpretation
- Outdoor panels at key locations
- Story-teller’s chair for Community Orchard
- Artist carved timber picnic benches
- Community picnic event
- Community reminiscence day

The concept designs for the way-markers and posts were developed from old sluice gearing that we discovered on site.
